I'm Coming Back Again

We are all lost and in need of God but do we see it? Do we think we can get by without God? We can often find ourselves too busy, jumping from one thing to the next, forgetting to stop, to be still and give ourselves the time to reflect on what God might be showing us through our lives. During this time of Advent, we prepare ourselves for the coming of Jesus, a time for family to be together; a time for being home. At this SOURCE we are reminded of Mary who made a home for Christ and Christ shows us that, no matter how lost we are, we are all called home, like the Prodigal Son. Nothing we do can stop God loving us but do we dare to make that journey back again, a journey we often need to make over and over. The Loving Father will be waiting for each of us with arms wide open, because we are all lost needing to be found.

Written in Kings will be leading us through music into a time of worship, celebration and reflection. Written in Kings is a rock band from South Wales who established themselves five years ago through two friends' passion and vision for music. Today, the band consists of front man, Sam Taylor and his brother and lead guitarist, Ben Taylor, with Nathan Beaton (drums) and Josh Halls (bass). These lads are inspired by honest and passionate rock'n'roll and love using their music to serve others.

"We've got to a stage where we are focused on everything that we do being worship. When your ambition is fixed on God and not on man's approval, God can really get to work on His dreams for your life! We no longer get caught up in pleasing the industry and its view on who we are, now we focus on worshipping God and what He's saying through our music. This makes the creation of music together pretty exciting!"
